RAZOR BLADES.—The tariff tax on razor blades imported by the Alexis Witte Cutlery Company is lowered in a decision just rendered by the General Apprassers. Duty was assessed on these blades at the rate of 55 per cent, and valorem under paragraph 183 as parts of razors intended for use in razors valued at more than $1 per dozen. The importers claimed that said articles should have been assessed under paragraph 187 as manufactures of metal, those that were gold plated at the rate of 55 per cent, ad valorem with a per cent, as valorem and those not plated at the rate of 29 per cent, ad valorem with claim, writes; "The blades before us are constructed wholly of steel and are therefore properly dutiable at the rate of 29 per cent, ad valorem under paragraph 167, with the exception of those which are partly gold plated, and which are designated on the invoice by the term 'Gold Bug.' BONE COUNTERS.—Small, flat, circular pieces of bone used as counters by children in a game of tiddlywinks, imported by George Borgfeldt & Co., were the subject of a decision handed down yesterday by the General Appraisers. Duty was assessed on these articles as parts of toys at the rate of 35 per cent. ad valorem under paragraph 342 of the act of 1913. The importers claimed classification as manufactures of bone, with duty at the rate of 25 per cent, ad valorem under paragraph 348. "Nowhere in the evidence," writes Judge Sullivan, "is the appraiser's statement that the merchandise is used as counters by children in a game of tidliywinks contradicted. The Collector by classifying the merchandise as toys has in effect stated that they are such and while we are in some doubt as to whether this merchandise is 'intended and designed for the amusement of children only,' set the evidence is not sufficient to contradict the Collector's implied statement that the merchandise is toys, nor to overcome the presumption of correctness attaching to his decision. We therefore overrule the protest for want of proof without, however, acquiescing in the Collector's decision."
